

Night Flight

"Consistently vivid and riveting."

-Sky Review

International Health's latest product to make old people young, Rejuvenesse, was a smashing success. The 30-city global air tour was a stroke of marketing genius marred only by the fatal crash of acclaimed aviatrix, Meryl Bernhardt, at city number 29.

Wymerly Crisfield Jones noted that the company's chief account was killed in the same crash just as the company was being investigated for questionable pension fund management.

"Jones and Porting fly high once again."
